

THE ATLANTIC

OCEAN TO PLATE

PRIVACY POLICY

THE WAY WE USE INFORMATION

<ul style="list-style-type: none">• responding to enquiries regarding events, our venue's products and services we offer	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• applications for employment
<ul style="list-style-type: none">• receiving and dealing feedback	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• marketing and promotional activities
<ul style="list-style-type: none">• processing orders and administering accounts	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• product development and market research
<ul style="list-style-type: none">• providing customer support

HOW DOES THE ATLANTIC COLLECT PERSONAL INFORMATION?

Where possible, The Atlantic will collect your personal information directly from you. This may take place in a number of ways, such as when you give us a written order or ask us to provide a product or service over the telephone or internet.

Our website also offers interactive facilities, such as customer enquiry or comment forms, competition entry forms, and mailing list sign up where personal information may be collected. In addition, we may obtain personal information from third parties such as contractors when organising your event.

Regardless of who provides personal information to us, it will always be handled by The Atlantic in accordance with this privacy policy and the National Privacy Principles.

SECURITY OF YOUR PERSONAL INFORMATION.

Personal information that we store on our computer systems is protected by the use of secure passwords and identifiers.

We maintain up to date technology to prevent un-authorized computer access. Access to personal information is limited to those who specifically require it in order to discharge their business or professional responsibilities. We also maintain physical security procedures to manage and protect the use and storage of personal information contained on paper.

If you should have any queries, please do not hesitate to contact us on info@atlanticgroup.com.au